epilepsy review template

Everyone with epilepsy should have a regular structured review, at least once a year. This should be either with a specialist (paediatrician or neurologist) or their GP, depending on how well their epilepsy is controlled and any specific lifestyle issues (National Institute for Health and Care Excellence, Clinical Guideline CG137, 2012).

This template lists the topics that you may find useful to cover in an annual epilepsy review. Not all topics will be relevant for every individual, and may not be relevant at every review. You can use this form as a prompt for what you want to cover during a review and as a record of your discussion. You can copy the form and give it to the individual for their records.
